Build Vocabulary
Providing a simple explanation for words that children may not be familiar with can help build their language skills. You can describe the meaning of a word, point to an illustration, or use your tone of voice to convey the word’s meaning. Here are some words to talk about while you read Amy Wu and the Patchwork Dragon:

- Patchwork: something that is made up of different things
- Enormous: very, very big
- Emerge: to come out where you can see
- Snout: an animal’s long nose
- Gleaming: bright and shiny
- Sketches: quick drawings
- Invite: ask someone to do something
- Exactly: right in every way

Tell Stories
In Amy Wu and the Patchwork Dragon, Amy has difficulty creating her own dragon until she is inspired by a treasure—a dragon costume—in her attic. Encourage children to think about or bring something that is special to them. This can be a small toy, a favorite food, a photograph, or an article of clothing. Share your own treasure, talk to children about why they chose their item, and invite children in the group to tell stories about something special to them. Then, let children draw the item and help them label their picture.

Sing Songs: Circle Time
Try incorporating a song into your Circle Time that connects to the emotions Amy experiences in the story. Encourage children to come up with their own ideas of emotions and corresponding motions for new verses.
If You’re Excited and You Know It

If you’re excited and you know it, wave your arms
If you’re excited and you know it, wave your arms
If you’re excited and you know it then your face will surely show it
If you’re excited and you know it, wave your arms

If you’re excited and you know it, wiggle your body
If you’re excited and you know it, wiggle your body
If you’re excited and you know it then your face will surely show it
If you’re excited and you know it, wiggle your body

If you’re excited and you know it, say, “Hooray!”
If you’re excited and you know it, say, “Hooray!”
If you’re excited and you know it then your face will surely show it
If you’re excited and you know it, say, “Hooray!”

If you’re excited and you know it, do all three
If you’re excited and you know it, do all three
If you’re excited and you know it then your face will surely show it
If you’re excited and you know it, do all three

Move Like a Dragon: Music and Movement

We see Amy, her grandmother, and her friends put on the dragon costume and dance all around the house and classroom. Collect some ribbons, scarves, or colorful fabric. You could also use tissue paper or tissues, and help children decorate them with markers. When they are finished, put on some music! Invite children to move like a dragon. They could pretend to blow fire, bring down the rain, and fly without wings. Then, ask children for other ideas of how a dragon might move.
Make Emotion Masks

Throughout the story, Amy’s feelings change as she thinks about making a dragon that feels “just right.” She’s sad when she doesn’t finish her dragon, excited when she has an idea, and happy when she finally gets to show her dragon to her classmates. Have children create emotion masks to talk about the feelings Amy shows in the book. Ask each child to make a face and help them identify the emotion it represents—for example, children can show you look of surprise and you can ask them what events would cause them to make that face.

Using paper plates, craft sticks, tape, and markers, let children draw the face on a plate. Tape the stick to the back of the mask so they can hold it in front of their face and then repeat with additional emotions.

Once the faces have been drawn, bring children together to ask how they are feeling. Children can select the mask that represents their mood and show their classmates.

Host a Parade: Dramatic Play

Amy, her grandmother, and her friends all help carry the dragon costume around to dance in a parade. What kind of parade can you host? Add costumes, fabric, accessories, boxes, and seats in the Dramatic Play area. Support children as they plan out what they will wear for the parade, what the parade route might look like, and who they will invite to attend. Support language development by asking children what items they will include in their parade. Then, follow children’s ideas and participate in play as they put on their pretend parade.

More Ideas

Keep the celebration going! Here are a few additional ideas for your classroom:

- Make Dragon Puppets: Make paper bag puppets of an eastern and western dragon (shown at the end of the book). How are they similar? How are they different?

- Create a Fire-Breathing Dragon: Help children decorate a paper towel tube, then glue strips of tissue paper on one end. Once the strips are dry, take a deep breath and blow into the end. What happens?

Storytime Event Guide and Activities for Educators

- Make a Classroom Patchwork Dragon: Let each child decorate their own scale and tape it onto a large dragon template. You can use the dragon templates at the end of the book.

- Pass the Feelings: Stand in a circle with students and begin by smiling at the child next to you. They “pass” the smile to the child next to them by making eye contact and smiling. Pass the smile all the way around the circle. You can also try it out with a frown, a nod, or other facial expressions.
